NATAL

UPDATE ON CONSTRUCTION OF YOUR CONDO IN NATAL

Hello Natal Owner,

I wanted to share some important news about the construction of your new condo in Natal. As you'll remember this community is in the fast developing La Veleta neighborhood in Tulum, close to the beach, bars, restaurants, and all the fun Tulum has to offer.

I'll be sending you periodic communications like this in the run up to planned delivery in winter 2024-2025. If you have any questions or concerns, don't hesitate to contact us at ownerservices@simca.mx

A shortage of cement meant that construction was delayed, but the team is now back at work.

Unfortunately, construction was delayed meaning delivery is now slated for fourth quarter 2024.

As you're probably aware the Riviera Maya has seen an unprecedented amount of construction over the past couple of years.

Massive government funded projects like Tren Maya and Tulum International Airport have led to a shortage of both labor and materials. While this will be great news for the region in the long run, it has slowed down the progress of many developments throughout the region, including at Natal.

But I'm happy to report that construction is underway once again and the construction team is hard at work, to deliver Natal in the last quarter of 2024.

As you can see from the video below, a significant amount of work has already taken place.

SIGNIFICANT PRICE RISES

This render from the developer should not be considered final, but it shows what you can expect when Natal is complete, an exclusive community in the heart of the Mayan jungle.

Natal owners are seeing a significant uplift in the value of their condos.

When this deal was brought to RETA by Ronan McMahon in July and October of 2020, RETA members could buy a two-bed, two-bath condo starting from $143,000. Today, condos like these are listed for $219,000. That's a price increase of $76,000.

Condos like yours are now listed for $219,000 - $76,000 more than the price some RETA members paid.

THE LATEST NEWS FROM TULUM

TULUM AIRPORT SET TO OPEN AHEAD OF SCHEDULE

The new Tulum International Airport will allow easy access for tourists to stunning beaches like this one.

Originally slated for a 2024 opening, Tulum International Airport (TQO) is now scheduled to open in December 2023. Mexican President Andrés Manuel López Obrador made the announcement and stated that as of the end of September 2023, the airport is 65% complete with the first flights planned for December.

It's noteworthy that the President himself gave this update, there will be a lot of pressure for the construction team to meet his expectations. If all goes to plan, international tourists will start arriving in April 2024, and domestic flights in December 2023.

However, delays are common in Mexico and the view from the ground here in the Riviera Maya is that more delays are still possible.

The opening of the Tulum International Airport will be great news for owners in Natal who will benefit from tourists being able to reach Tulum more quickly and easily. Currently, the only way for international tourists to arrive at Tulum is through Cancun International Airport, which is an hour and half drive away.

SPIRIT AIRLINES ANNOUNCES FLIGHTS TO TULUM

In other news, ultra-low-cost airline Spirit Airlines recently announced their first direct flights to Tulum.

Spirit will launch once-daily flights from both Fort Lauderdale (FLL) and Orlando (MCO) beginning March 28, 2024.

Spirit already serves Cancun (CUN), Cabo San Lucas (SJD), Monterrey (MTY), and Puerto Vallarta (PVR) and the new route will make Tulum the fifth city that Spirit serves in Mexico.

Spirit Airlines has announced flights into Tulum starting in 2024.

Speaking at the announcement, John Kirby, Vice President of Network Planning at Spirit Airlines said, "Our direct flights from Florida will make a getaway to Mexico's enchanting coastline more accessible than ever, just in time for spring break."

I had a look online, and you can find tickets on Spirit's website for as low as $149 one-way. This pricing is sure to make Tulum a very attractive proposition for vacationers, but it's worth noting the flights are listed with a disclaimer that reads "subject to government approval."

BEST BEACH DESTINATION IN MEXICO AND CENTRAL AMERICA

Tulum was once again named the leading beach destination in Mexico and Central America.

Tulum won the award for the Best Beach in Mexico at the 30th edition of the World Travel Awards, known as the "Tourism Oscars."

The Mexico and Central America awards category named Tulum the leading beach destination, an award it has won six times, in 2009, 2016, 2017, 2020 and 2022.

The president of the Tulum Tourism Promotion Council, Mario Cruz Rodríguez said the award is "... an achievement for all of us from Tulum who are dedicated to the service of tourism, and we are very happy that this award builds prestige for Mexico and of course of Tulum."

In other good news for Tulum, the Hilton Tulum Riviera Maya hotel was recognized as the top all-inclusive resort and Our Habitas, Tulum, was awarded best boutique resort.

TREN MAYA ON TRACK FOR INAUGURATION IN DECEMBER 2023

Tulum station will make this once remote stretch of coastline more accessible than ever.

In more good news, construction on Tren Maya, which will connect the Riviera Maya and surrounding areas, is approaching completion.

The most recent construction work is connecting Izamal to Cancún. Known as Section 4, this part of the route covers 239 km across 9 municipalities and features 5 stations.

In a press conference on October 16, 2023, the General Director of Tren Maya, Óscar David Lozano Águila, reported that all 239 km (148.5 miles) of track has been laid and electrical work installed.

He went on to state that the only remaining work is a general leveling of the tracks.

According to the Mexican newspaper El Heraldo de México, Lozano Águila said that the complementary works of this section are already in operation.

"Of the planned 35 vehicle crossings and bridges, 33 are now complete. 90 of the 92 underpasses and wildlife crossings are also finished. Regarding the electrical infrastructure, 6,585 of the 9,000 required poles have been placed."

The new train Maya will make getting to Lake Bacalar from Tulum a breeze.

Tren Maya will provide a convenient way for tourists to get from Cancun to Tulum. It will also open the rest of the region, providing easy access to Mayan ruins, nature reserves, Lake Bacalar, and other attractions.

More tourists will obviously benefit Natal owners such as yourself, so you'll be happy to hear that according to the Harvard International Review, tourism revenue is expected to increase by more than 20% across the Riviera Maya. This extra money pouring into the area should boost real estate and rental prices alike.

And Tren Maya is set to bring benefits to everyone in the area. It's estimated that more than 1 million jobs will be created, along with the 27,000 jobs created by the construction.

That's all for now. I'd like to thank you once again for your patience and understanding with the unavoidable delay, and to remind you that if you have any questions or comments, please contact the team at ownerservices@simca.mx.
